Mr. and Mrs. Smith has always spent their summer holidays in New Jersey in the past, staying in a small inn at the foot of a hill. One year, however, Mr. Smith made a lot of money in his business, so they decided to go to London and stay at a really good hotel while they went touring around that famous city.

They flew to London and arrived at their hotel late one evening. They expected that they would have to go to bed hungry, because in that small inn in New Jersey, no meals were served after seven. They were therefore surprised when the man who received them in the hall asked whether they would take dinner there that night.

"Are you still serving dinner?" asked Mr. Smith.

"Yes, certainly, sir," answered the man. "We serve it until half past nine."

"What are the times of meals then?" asked Mr. Smith.

"Well, sir," answered the man. "We serve breakfast from seven to half past eleven in the morning, lunch from twelve to three in the afternoon, tea from four to five, and dinner from six to half past nine."

"But that hardly leaves any time for us to see the sights of London!" said Mrs. Smith.

Food and Health

Nowadays, more and more people in the developed countries are becoming aware of the link between diet and good health. They are trying to have a balanced diet containing protein, fat, vitamins and minerals as well as fresh fruit and vegetables which are good for health.

In most of the developing countries, however, quite a few people still don't realize the importance of a healthier diet. As a result, diseases such as cancer and heart disease are increasing, while in the developed countries, these diseases have fallen.

It is time for the governments of the developing countries to do something to encourage the eating of the right kinds of food. Otherwise, people will suffer more.
